DISCUSSION

Mr. Hunter has been involved in the investigation of mysterious disappearances of funds and records from the banking industry for over 35 years. From 1978 to 1988, he was involved in more than 200 polygraph investigations in the banking industry. Many of these investigations were in conjunction with law enforcement agencies, including the FBI. Since the passage of the Employee Polygraph Protection Act of 1988, the number of bank investigations has decreased, however he still is involved in about 5 bank / financial loss investigations per year.

Mr. Hunter has also been involved in the selection and background evaluations of new employees in the banking industry for over 40 years. These background reviews involved polygraph examinations and integrity interviews as well as skills and attitudinal assessments.

Finally, Mr. Hunter has been involved in the training of management as well as security personnel through seminars regarding the investigation of mysterious disappearances, selection, and interviewing topics.

It should be noted that Mr. Hunter currently does polygraph screening examinations for about 50 separate law enforcement or fire service agencies (municipal and county). He also regularly conducts criminal investigation and internal affairs examinations for law enforcement agencies. Mr. Hunter also regularly conducts polygraph evaluations for a variety of defense lawyers in conjunction with investigations regarding their clients involving civil, state, and federal issues.

In 2006, Mr. Hunter was involved in the polygraph evaluation of about 10 subjects (all with separate legal counsels) in conjunction with a stipulation of the test results being accepted by the US Attorney's Office, Northern Illinois District, as part of a sentencing agreement in their trials.

Mr. Hunter was involved in polygraph testing evaluations of James Newsome, Joseph Bouroughs, and Steven Linscott for their defense lawyers. His polygraph evaluations which supported their denials in committing the crimes for which they were convicted played a part in their individual defense lawyer's efforts to gain their freedom. All three were eventually released by the State of Illinois in the 1990's after being wrongfully incarcerated for a number of years.

Mr. Hunter has been involved in the therapeutic / counseling polygraph evaluation of clients battling addiction issues (alcohol, drugs, gambling, and sexual conduct) for psychologists specializing in such treatments for over 20 years. This specialized testing involves creating valid sexual history assessments as well as monitoring and maintenance type evaluations during their recovery.
